

IQSIGHT is the new brand name for Video Security products from Keenfinity-Group (previously Bosch Security Systems)

From 1 January 2026 IQSIGHT was launched as the new brand name for Bosch video security products.

From 1 May 2025 Bosch Security Systems has a new name Keenfinity for Video, Comm and Access & Intrusion business.

For Fire system products and MAP5000 please visit Bosch Building Technologies website

Keenfinity Academy Technical Training Certificates

From 2024 we restructured the Technical training with a single certificate level in key areas. Before joining the Certificate training you should complete the related pre-requisite training on-line, you can complete it on your own time scale.

In addition to the Certificate level there is Advanced level training on selected topics these are mostly classroom based training session.

Registration, Booking, Ordering and Payment:

Register > Book > Order > Confirm > Payment > Certificate

Register: To get the full benefit of IQSIGHT Training you need to create your own account on IQSIGHT Academy at the link on the previous page. The full training portfolio will be available to you a few hours after you create your account.

Training certificates are associated to the individual, they are your skills, so you can take them with you if you move to a different company, just contact us to update your information.

Book: Classroom training must be booked in advance, you can find the individual classes via the links in the previous page. Log in with your Bosch Academy account and choose class, date and type of training (virtual/Face-to-Face) that suits you. Your request will be acknowledged automatically.

Order: In the Nordic region classroom training is normally chargeable, so once you've requested a place in class, you should place an *order either via your distributor, or if you are a direct customer, directly with the order desk, in the same way you order products from Keenfinity. The Recommended End User Price (REUP) is shown in the table above with the product code (CTN). REUP prices are also shown in the class information on the Keenfinity Academy.

Note*: Free-of-charge training does not require an order.

Include: the name of the training, the product code (CTN), the requested date of the training and the names of attendees in your order so we can process it quickly. Ask your distributor to forward this information to Keenfinity with your order.

Confirm: We will send out a confirmation email and additional course information as soon as we can confirm the place is available, and we have an order from you.

Payment: We normally invoice classroom training after the session is complete. If you were unable to join for some reason and contact us before the start of the class, you are welcome to re-book and join on a later date with the same order.

Certificate: On completion of the Training plan you will automatically receive a Certificate of passing the course. This is valid for 2 years, and you will be invited to take a re-certification training 3 months before the certificate expires, and have 12 months to re-certify. After that you should take the course.

If you need help with ordering please contact our sales team.

Additional Information for Types of Training Available

Classroom training is available for many courses and is a face-to-face training session at the specified location, with all of the required equipment, more details are available on the individual course dates.

Virtual Classroom - is offered for software based products. It is the same content as the Face-to-Face classroom, but delivered using Microsoft Teams for communication and presentations so the student and trainer(s) can interact; and a Teamviewer connection to give the student full access to the classroom hardware during the training. The student must have a good internet connection and a PC that can have MS Teams, and Teamviewer installed, and ideally 2 screens. No other hardware software is required at the student site.